

Hello! My name is Erin Mino, and I am extremely interested in starting the next chapter of my life in this apartment. I am originally from Pennsylvania, and moved to New York 13 years ago to attend LIM College, where I graduated with a degree in Visual Merchandising. I then went on to work on the corporate side of visual merchandising for Tommy Hilfiger, Eileen Fisher, and now as a Senior Visual Specialist for Infinity Global. I am a responsible, hardworking, and determined woman. I love to paint, to be creative, and to travel! And most importantly, I am looking to take my independence back, and I'm hoping that this apartment will be my first step in doing so. I've just removed myself from an 8.5 year relationship that was no longer healthy for me to be in, and I'm looking to start the next phase of my life. Something just felt right the second I got to the door of this building and saw not only the design décor of the interior (love), but Le Crib written on the buzzer gave me a much-needed laugh! There was truly a sense of peace in me as I stood on that block, and when I walked into the apartment, I could see myself being very happy there. Please take my application into serious consideration – I would love to be your new tenant!
