Your Choice to Limit Sharing and Use of Information, including Customer Proprietary Network Information, for Marketing

Verizon requests your consent to use and share your information for marketing new services to you that are different from the services you currently purchase from us. Your information includes:

- Customer Proprietary Network Information (CPNI): This is information available to us solely by virtue of our relationship with you. It relates to the type, quantity, destination, technical configuration, location, and amount of use of the telecommunications and interconnected VoIP services you purchase from us, as well as related billing information. You have a right, and we have a duty under federal law, to protect the confidentiality of your CPNI.
- Information about Your Credit: This information includes your account history with us, your credit score, and the type of information found in consumer credit reports and credit applications.

In addition to us using your information for marketing, your information will be shared with our affiliates and agents so they can market new services to you. Verizon Wireless is part of the family of Verizon companies, which includes television, telematics, internet, video, and local and long distance services affiliates. Visit Verizon.com for more information about our affiliates and the products and services they offer.

You can make separate choices for your CPNI and Information about Your Credit. Your decision will not affect the provision of any services you currently have with us.

Unless you call us at the numbers above, we may share or use your CPNI or Information about Your Credit beginning 30 days after the first time we notify you of this policy. Your choice will remain valid until you notify us that you wish to change it.
