

the watch and chain were found concealed between the mattresses of his bed. He was held for examination, and the Police are looking for the owner of the watch.

The clothing store of J. Wilzinski, No. 423 Hudson street, was broken into by burglars on Wednesday night, and twelve overcoats, twelve pairs of pants, five vests, and five pieces of cloth, valued in all at $400, were carried off. One of the burglars was subsequently arrested while endeavoring to dispose of a portion of the property.

The show-case in front of Ingersoll & Glenny's furnishing store, No. 669 Broadway, was broken open on Wednesday night, and $30 worth of goods

JWilzinski423HudsonClothingStoreBurglaryNYT04DEC1875

Clipped By:

csimon

Sun, Jan 7, 2018