Important

Be Prepared for a Power Outage

It pays to use a corded phone. Did you know that during a power outage, a corded telephone can continue to provide phone service where a cordless phone might not? (A corded phone has a handset that is directly wired to the base.) That's because a corded phone doesn't usually need to be plugged into an electrical outlet in order to work. Depending on the service you subscribe to, your corded phones may get power directly through Verizon telephone lines. If you are a Verizon Fios (fiber optic service) customer or a Verizon Voice Link (utilizes wireless technology) customer and have an on-premise battery back-up unit, your unit will provide power for a period of time in the event of a power outage.

It's a smart idea to keep at least one corded phone in your home and business. That way, if electrical power is lost, you may still be able to make and receive phone calls. A corded phone is also the better choice to protect your privacy when providing credit card information or other sensitive data over the telephone. It's technically possible to intercept conversations or information entered on a cordless phone by using anything from a sophisticated eaves-dropping device to a simple baby monitor. Using a corded phone can help protect your financial information and reduce the risk of identity fraud.

If you have trouble with your Verizon service, report your service issue to Verizon at 1.800.Verizon (1.800.837.4966) or visit Verizon.com/support.

Call Before You Dig - It's the Law

Whether you're laying a foundation for a building or planting a tree, you must first check for the existence of underground utility lines and cables. If you or your contractor disrupts any of these lines, the results can be dangerous - and costly - to everyone.

Call before you dig, toll-free, 1.800.272.4480 (in New York City and Long Island) or 1.800.962.7962 (in all other areas of the state) or 811 from anywhere in the state.

Credit Reporting

If you fail to pay your bill, Verizon may submit a negative credit report to a credit reporting agency, which will negatively affect your credit report.

Restatement of Charges

This chart restates your charges by category. To help you maintain your basic telephone service when you can't pay your bill in full, Verizon applies your payment first to Basic and then to Non-Basic. Basic includes charges for local calling, applicable taxes and fees. If you don't pay the past due basic amount, Verizon could disconnect your local telephone service. If you don't pay your non-basic charges, Verizon won't disconnect your local telephone service, but the non-basic services may be disconnected.
